I have watched this city grow from a sleepy college town to one of the top spots to live in the U.S. Over 10 years in the real estate profession working with agents as an assistant and as a MLS trainer at the Austin Board of REALTORS®; I have previous experience in the high tech field and as a trainer in public education, the high tech arena, and scuba diving. Austin has so much to offer - the live music, food, technology, the lakes, and I hope all my years in Austin will allow me to help you find the best fit for your lifestyle. Having been through buying/selling of of own homes, I knows the importance of guidance through this process, especially when working with a builder! Whether you are looking to buy, sell, lease for your own residence, or are interested in investment property, I am happy to do whatever we can to make your transaction successful!'
